

STORM TIES UP TRAIN SERVICE

Rhinelander Is Without Mail From South For Forty-eight Hours

Northwestern traffic from the south was practically at a stand still all day Monday owing to the terrific blizzard which swept through the central and southern parts of the state, crippling traffic, demoralizing telegraph and telephone service and causing heavy property damage.

Rhinelander received no mail from points south of Antigo until Tuesday morning, being forty-eight hours without this service. Trains became stalled in the huge drifts of snow and remained tied up for hours.

In Milwaukee twenty-one inches of snow fell in thirty-six hours. A gale of between thirty and thirty-eight miles velocity raged for twenty-four hours.

The storm, which is said by weather bureau officials to be the worst the middle west has experienced in years, was most severe in central and northern Illinois. It covered Michigan, Wisconsin and parts of Iowa, Indiana and Ohio.

CITY TEAM WINS FROM ANTIGO FIVE

Snappy Basket Ball Contest Is Staged Here Friday Evening

In a fast and exciting basket ball game, the Antigo city team was defeated by the Rhinelander city team Friday night at the high school gymnasium. To Chas. Chafee, referee, must be given a good deal of credit for the swift and snappy exhibition of basket tossing. Charles was on the job all the time and kept the game moving from start to finish.

The Antigo quintet put up a good game but were outclassed by the local five, which was composed entirely of former R. H. S. basket ball men. The game was swift and rough all the way through. The first half ended with the score 14-9 in favor of the home team, and they played a still faster game in the second half, as is shown by the final score of 36-17.

Sorenson, former Ripon star, playing at forward, led the scoring or Rhinelander with eight baskets and was closely followed by Frogner, the other forward, who caged six shots. The work of Bonnie and Vilson at guard also deserves special mention, as they stopped the Antigo attack time after time in a manner which left no doubt in the minds of the Antigo men as to what they had run up against. McNamara was easily the star for Antigo, laying a good heady game through it.

The proceeds of the game were donated to the Red Cross. Following is the score:

Rhinelander	Antigo
Sorenson 11	Hyeen 11
Frogner 8	McNamara 11
Bonnie 6	Sargent 6
Vilson 10	Zimmerman 10
Free throws 1	Free throws 1
Referee, Chas. Chafee.

BIG WAR SAVINGS STAMPS DRIVE ON

Whirlwind Campaign Begins In This City Wednesday Morning

Monday marked the beginning of the War Savings Stamps drive in Rhinelander. District Attorney A. J. O'Melia, who is the county chairman in supervision of the campaign, selected an efficient staff of lieutenants to serve as chairmen in the six wards of this city and the townships and villages through out Oneida county.

These chairmen have selected teams of solicitors who commenced work Wednesday morning and are now actively pushing the campaign. Every home in this city and county will be visited by the workers. About fifty teams are engaged, each team being headed by a capable captain.

Business houses, factories, schools and other public and private institutions, will be solicited in the campaign, which will be the most vigorous and thorough ever conducted in Rhinelander and Oneida county.

MANGERSON GOES ON CASH BASIS

Rhinelander is to have another cash and carry store. A. R. Mangerson, one of this city's well known grocers whose store is at 819 Mason street, announces that beginning Monday, Jan. 14, he will conduct business on a strictly cash basis with no delivery.

It will be Mr. Mangerson's aim to sell goods at as low a price as he possibly can. Customers will be given the advantage of the saving under the new system.

As usual Mr. Mangerson will sell nothing but the finest of staple and fancy groceries and will continue to give patrons the best of service.

RETURN FROM WACO

After a month's visit with Lieut. A. J. Lytle at Camp MacArthur, Waco, Tex., Mrs. Lytle and "Jim" returned to Rhinelander Wednesday. They had a delightful trip and enjoyed every minute of their stay, especially "Jim," who had the time of his life and won many friends among officers and men. "Jim" says that could he have sold the Saturday Evening Post there he would have made the Curtis Publishing company work over time supplying him with copies.

INTERNATIONAL HYMN

(Tune, America)

Two empires by the sea,
Two nations great and free,
One anthem raise.
One race of ancient fame,
One tongue, one faith, we claim,
One God, whose glorious name
We love and praise.

What deeds our fathers wrought,
What battles we have fought,
Let fame record.
Now, vengeful passion, cease,
Come, victories of peace;
Nor hate nor pride's caprice
Unsheath the sword.

Though deep the sea and wide
Twixt realm and realm, its tide
Binds strand to strand.
So be the gulf between
Grey coasts and islands green
With bonds of peace serene
And friendship spanned.

Now may the God above
Guard the dear lands we love,
Both East and West.
Let love more fervent grow,
As peaceful ages go,
And strength yet stronger grow,
Blessing and blest.

—Prof. George Huntington, L. H. D.

MAY PUT STOP TO DEER HUNTING

That a closed season will be declared for deer at the next regular session of the legislature, is the opinion of E. W. Barber, commissioner of conservation.

"The large kill this year makes it necessary that some measure be taken to preserve this specie of game," he said. "Sixty-four thousand deer hunting licenses were issued this fall. It is believed that every man who went out came in with a carcass, and from what my deputy tells me, 60 per cent of the kill were does."

"At that rate it will take just three years to exterminate, or at least reduce, our Wisconsin herds to a negligible quantity. If a closed season is not declared the buck law will have to be readopted."

Refuges such as are already established at five points in the state are now contemplated in great numbers for the preservation of deer.

According to the commissioner these refuges are provided by a law to the effect that any owner of 160 acres or more may apply to the state for the establishment of a game refuge on his tract. Such establishment shuts all hunters off the premises.

"This system has proved to be the most efficient in the rehabilitation of game, and the preservation of many species," said Mr. Barber. Domestic propaganda is not nearly so successful, for on these refuge tracts the game lives in the natural, wild way."

Refugees next to be established will be near Superior and Rice Lake.

CHURCH WEDDING TUESDAY MORNING

At St. Mary's church Tuesday morning Rev. Father Didier officiated at the ceremony which joined in wedlock Miss Belle Gormley of this city and Mr. H. E. Cook of Traverse City, Mich. They were attended by Miss Eileen Ward and Mr. Forest Gormley. Many relatives and friends of the young couple were present.

The bride was born in this city and grew to womanhood here. She is the daughter of Mr. Frank Gormley, one of Rhinelander's earliest residents. Her friends are many. The groom during his brief residence here has formed a large acquaintance.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook will reside in this city. All wish them success.

QUESTIONNAIRES FIX MAN POWER

"The object of the questionnaires now being sent or which have been sent to every man in the United States between the ages of 20 and 31 years is to tabulate the man power of the nation," said Adjutant General Orlando Holway.

"This office has been asked hundreds of times why it is necessary for men already in the service to fill out the questionnaires and the above is the reason. The man-power of every state in the country is now being tabulated and it is of the greatest importance that all facts be known."

"The one unfortunate part of the administrative work is that a law requires registrants to file their questionnaires within seven days, at which time the list of those who have not done so is published. With the men now in service it is frequently a physical impossibility for them to comply with the letter of the law, but it is of greatest importance that they fill out the questionnaire and return it at the earliest possible moment."

It is the duty of the adjutant general to look after those who fail to return their questionnaire within seven days to publish the list. This list, according to Adjutant General Holway, should not be construed to mean that the men are slackers, as only a very small percentage can be classed as such.

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN

The third Liberty loan campaign will be opened February 15.

What amount is to be raised in this third drive could not be ascertained. Extensive preparations for advertising and distributing bonds are nearing completion.

Secretary McAdoo will give all of his time to railroad work until February 1, when he will return to direct charge of the next loan campaign.

MAXWELL PROSPECTS GOOD

"We look for a good business in the sale of Maxwell cars the coming spring," said George Hansen of the T. C. Wood Hardware company today. "We have sold a touring car and a delivery truck to local parties since Christmas and have a long list of prospective customers with whom we expect to close deals within the next six months. The new 1918 Maxwell is one of the classiest cars for the money ever placed on the market and is certain to meet with unprecedented popularity."

NEW POSTOFFICE NOW A QUESTION

Rhinelander Must Satisfy Government That Building Is A Necessity

According to a Washington dispatch five proposed postoffice buildings in Wisconsin, authorized by congress, come under Secretary McAdoo's order providing that no new postoffice buildings shall be placed under contract or constructed. According to the treasury department, these were to be at Rhinelander, Mineral Point, Oconto, Madison, and Tomah.

The McAdoo order does not prevent the completion of postoffices buildings for which contracts have been let. If citizens of the towns adversely affected can show, to the satisfaction of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Moyle, that the public building is an absolute and urgent necessity, its construction may be permitted.

That Rhinelander needs, and most urgently needs a postoffice building is a fact undisputed by every one of the patrons of the office here.

The present quarters are cramped and in no sense adequate for the present and growing needs of the service. A good index was furnished during the holidays, when there was scarcely room enough to move in the lobby (if the narrow passageway can be called such.)

Postmaster Stapleton and his force are to be commended for their work in the present quarters under the handicaps they have been obliged to put up with.

It is hard to conceive that the postmaster general or any of his aids would recommend anything but haste in the construction of a government building for Rhinelander, if the officials had any idea of the need here at this time.

COMMISSION TO DISTRIBUTE FRY

The Conservation Commission wishes all who desire fish fry for stocking public waters of inland lakes and streams to file their applications at once so that same may be recorded in the office before the time for distribution of fish commences in the spring. Application blanks for this purpose may be obtained by writing to the Conservation Commission at Madison.

The Commission expects to have a large number of brook trout fry and fingerlings to send out this year. Preparations have been made at the Bayfield Hatchery for the holding of a large number of brook trout fry, until fall when they will be distributed for planting in streams that overflow their banks at time of freshets during the spring and summer months.

They will have several millions of rainbow trout fry to send out. This variety of fish is better adapted to the larger spring water streams than to the smaller ones. Water in which the temperature will creep up to 75 degrees F. in summer is well adapted for them.

The department will have some one million or more of the brown trout variety for applicants who wish them for certain streams. If applicants desire brown trout they must make special note of same on the application blank.

They also expect to have many millions of pike fry for the many inland lakes of the state.

For inland lakes fed by spring water with a depth of 75 feet or more the commission will have a supply of lake trout large enough to fill all requests that may be filed.

The fish crop is a very important one and all people desiring fish for stocking public waters this year should file their application without delay.

MILES SAYS GOOD HORSES SCARCE

Frank Miles, proprietor of the Palace Livery, was in the southern part of the state last week and while there purchased a carload of draft and farm horses. These horses are now on sale at Mr. Miles' stables.

Mr. Miles says that good horses are scarce as the government is buying up all the best stock. He advised anyone in the market for horses to buy now because within a few months there is going to be a lively scramble for horses and prices will be much higher than at present.

Mrs. Bingo Spanks Sonny

Mrs. Bingo has a quick temper but she prides herself on having it under very good control. She has a young child also, but up to a recent day she could not pride herself especially on her ability to control him. For one thing, she had a theory that Sonny was different from ordinary children.

Every mother, of course, thinks her child is different and if she does not get a grip on herself the theory is apt to make a fool of her. Mrs. Bingo thought Sonny to be a most remarkably sensitive child, the sort who could not be handled in the same manner as was admittedly successful in the coarser variety of children her friends mothered.

RENDANT - DIERKS

The Rendant home in Bradley, was the scene of a pretty wedding at 12 o'clock noon, January the second, when Miss Martha Rendant became the bride of Mr. John W. Dierks. Rev. V. H. Surtzer of the M. E. church of Tomahawk performed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of golden brown silk and carried white carnations. Her bridesmaid, Miss Edith Blomdahl of Rhinelander, wore taupe satin de chine and carried pink carnations. Mr. Louis Bergstrom of Bradley was best man. Miss Signy Eide of Rhinelander sang a beautiful solo. Following the ceremony, dinner was served to a party of twelve. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dierks extend their best wishes.

MEATLESS AND WHEATLESS

I have come to the end of a meatless day,
And peacefully lying in bed,
My thoughts revert in a musing way
To the food which today I've been fed.

When I think of the cheese and the beans and fish
And oysters I've had to eat,
I've no regrets for the "good old days,"
I really didn't miss the meat!

I have come to the end of a wheatless day,
I have eaten no cookies or pie,
I have had no bread that was made with wheat;
It was made out of corn or rye;
And I liked it so well, that when war is past
And a glorious victory won,
I'll keep on observing "wheatless" days
And I'll eat "corn pone" for fun!

E. H. ROGERS, Mgr.
Rhinelander, Wis.

Sonny, when he was two years old, got a notion that he did not care much about sleep along toward 4 o'clock in the morning, so he'd begin to howl at that time to be taken up and entertained. Inasmuch as there was a younger baby in the room, and it appeared easier to entertain one child than two, he got his way for a few mornings.

The mother needed sleep and the loss of it began to tell on her health. She lost weight, looked hollow-eyed, and developed nerves. The doctor told her Sonny needed treatment more than she did and suggested a good sound spanking at or near 4 a. m. The doctor was told that he did not understand Sonny and that rough methods would shock his delicate nervous system. Mrs. Bingo was very much disappointed in the doctor.

But there is a limit to how long a naturally quick temper can be controlled, especially at 4 a. m., and when its owner needs sleep and is developing nerves. One morning her control suddenly snapped. So did her eyes. She forgot Sonny's delicate nervous system. He was snatched up so quickly that it took his breath away. He got his spanking in hot blood and regardless of theories.

He followed his order "to shut up and go to sleep" so rapidly that Mrs. Bingo thought for a moment that she had murdered her child. But she had not. All that she had done was to learn that a child loves to obey a just and strong master. Sonny now eats and sleeps regularly, as the young animal, that he really is, should, and he bids fair to become a real man some day.

OVER TWO YEARS LATER Mr. Rogers said: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills off and on since I recommended them and have always found good results. I think just as highly of them now as I did when I gave my former endorsement."

TWO BITS A DAY CLUBS

Out in Phoenix, Ariz., a movement has been inaugurated for the formation of "Two Bits a Day" clubs, the members of which are to buy a quarter's worth of Thrift Stamps every day. Three men each took a hundred Thrift cards, pasted one stamp in each card, and sold the entire lot before two blocks had been covered.

"Two bits" is the old term, dating back to the early days of the country, for a quarter of a dollar, and is still used in the South and West. Every patriotic American now wants "to do his bit"; the members of these clubs are carrying out this idea finely in doing their "two bits" every day. It is hoped that "Two Bits a Day" clubs will be formed all over the country in the great war savings campaign.

I have sent one copy of this general survey to the Grand Worthy President, and another to the secretary of your State Aerie. I am enclosing you data concerning your Aerie that will, I am sure, interest each of your members.
Your Aerie was instituted in 1903. The following table gives the membership carried on your rolls June 1st of each year, up to and including 1917:

Year	Your membership	Year	Your membership
1903	67	1911	177
1904	75	1912	171
1905	89	1913	175
1906	96	1914	205
1907	108	1915	223
1908	119	1916	379
1909	133	1917	383
1910	163

The highest membership of your Aerie is shown in 1917. In 1903 you had a membership of 67 and your Aerie has constantly increased until at the present time you have 383 members.

The following financial showing made by your Aerie during the last year ought to be a source of real satisfaction to each of your members:

Members on your roster. Membership gain or loss for 1915, 1916 and 1917. Net assets (this includes everything you actually own.) Available assets (this does not include paraphernalia.)
1915	223 G 18 8562 23 7053 23
1916	379 G 156 10682 91 9732 91
1917	383 G 4 12235 72 11410 72
Gain during 1915-1916 and 1916-1917 in your available assets:
Year 1915	1916 2679 68
	1917 1677 81

This table gives the cash amount each of your members would have if the available assets of your Aerie were divided among your members:

Year 1915	31 63
1916	25 68
1917	29 79

The records before me show your Aerie has real estate holdings amounting to $2590.60 and investments to the amount of $3156.87. After all, the financial strength of an Aerie depends upon the amount that each member would have if the available cash assets were divided among all the members. Roughly speaking, you should add from $3.50 to $5.00 each year to the available cash assets of each member.

Any additional information that I can give you is yours for the asking.
Fraternally yours in L. T. J. and E.

RAISE FOR LITTLE P. M.S.

Fourth class postmasters, who receive their compensation according to the amount of stamps cancelled at their offices, do not benefit under the percentage increase of salaries provided for at the last session, and which will probably be continued or increased for the next fiscal year. To take care of that class of federal employees Representative Roscoe C. McCulloch of Ohio has introduced a bill to give fourth class postmasters an increase of $20 for every $100 or major fraction thereof of their compensation for the next preceding year. It is more than probable that Mr. McCulloch's suggestion, or some other of equal merit, will find favor with congress.

PLACARD ON HOMES

According to new rules by the state board of health the local health officers are required to placard all homes where there are cases of whooping cough, typhoid fever, chicken pox or measles. All such cases must be reported to the health department. In cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox and infantile paralysis the houses are both placard and under quarantine.

MINOCQUA (Minocqua Times).

The Red Cross campaign which has been carried out in Minocqua during the past two weeks was a success in every way. Although the campaign was extended to January first throughout the county, it was not necessary here as by Christmas eve, the local committee had subscribed over double the quota of the town. When the campaign was closed Monday, the chairman of the committee reported that 311 Red Cross members for 1918 had been obtained, practically every family for miles around being represented. Many homes and business places have been given their 100 percent service flags which they have displayed in their windows.

EAGLE RIVER

(Eagle River Review)

A letter from B. H. Grant of Monico, an old Review subscriber, and for many years mail clerk on the run through here, states that he has three sons in the service of Uncle Sam, and as a result the entire management of his farm devolves upon him which is needless to say, keeps him pretty well occupied most of the time, and still leaves him optimistic enough to believe that all will be well in the end.

Misses Freda Frankel, Esther Austin and Irene Higgins returned to their school duties in Duluth, Tuesday, after spending the past two weeks at their homes here. Misses Fern Kuehne and Ella Frakerick also returned that day to Milwaukee, where they are attending school.

E. F. Hayward of Rummelies was in town yesterday for the first time since July 4th. The serious illness of his wife during most of that time has kept him closely at home, to say nothing of the tasks daily presenting themselves to a successful tiller of the soil. We were sorry to hear from him that Mrs. Hayward does not improve in health as fast as her many friends could wish.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES EXEMPT

Presidents of railway brotherhoods were assured by President Wilson in a conference Thursday that railway men would be put in the second class industrially in the draft. The second class will not be called out until all the men in the first class have been taken.

Peculiarity of Mangrove.
The rhizophora mangrove, the southern mangrove, is most curious in propagation. The seed sends forth a shoot that really comes through the seed and grows to a foot long. It then falls away and strikes, root end down, in the mud and is at once a plant.

Largest Ingot.
The largest octagon ingot mold which has ever been cast in the United States, and perhaps in the world, has been made by one of the great steel companies. The actual weight is not given, but it is reported to be nearly 140 tons.

Freshwater Eels.
Freshwater eels are said to be very clean feeders; they are sometimes seen cropping the leaves of watercress and other aquatic plants as they float about in the water; but they are immense devourers of spawn of all kinds of fish.

THIEVES BUSY ON TRAIN

Pickpockets operated last Saturday on a Chicago and Northwestern railway passenger train from Ashland to Green Bay and reaped a rich harvest. The coaches were crowded and the light fingered gentry got away with hundreds of dollars. An Ontario physician lost a certificate of deposit for $200 and $35 in cash. A woodsman lost $50, all his earnings. Another man lost $80 and several lost smaller amounts. The $5 and $10 thefts were numerous. The thieves, it is believed, left the train before the alarm was sounded. Scores of people lost money. It was "easy pickings" because of the crowded condition of the train.—Ontario Enterprise.

THE NEW NORTH

The New North Printing Co.
Entered at the Postoffice at Rhinelander, Wis., as Second Class
Mail Matter

JANUARY 10, 1918

"For the cause that lacks assistance;
For the wrong that needs resistance;
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

NEW POSTOFFICE NEEDED

We need a new postoffice building. Conditions are such in the temporary quarters of the Rhinelander postoffice that it is impossible to handle the mail at all satisfactory. Our congressman realized this and succeeded in getting a bill passed to build a postoffice here and now there seems a fair chance that the plan may not be carried out.

Every citizen of Rhinelander should do all in his power to see that the pledge is fulfilled. We need a postoffice and it should be built, and will be if all join and do what we can to this end.

THE CHANCES OF A SOLDIER

The following official Canadian report should be reassuring to parents whose sons have gone to the front:

"The Military Hospital commission at Quebec has kept an account of how Canadian troops fared in the war, and has compiled some interesting statistics based upon its investigations and observations.

If your boy is at the front:

He has 29 chances of coming home to one chance of being killed. He has 98 chances of recovering from a wound to two chances of dying.

He has only one chance in 500 of losing a limb.

He will live five years longer because of physical training.

He is freer from disease in the army than in civil life.

He has better medical care at the front than at home.

In other wars from 10 to 15 men died from disease to one from bullets.

In this war one man dies from disease to every 10 from bullets. This war is less wasteful of life than any other in history.

Only ten per cent of all Canadians disabled for further service have been physically unable to engage in their former occupations.

If your boy is one of the 10 per cent the government will re-educate him in another vocation at which he can earn a living.

This doesn't mean that war is a danger-free occupation, and that life in the trenches is as comfortable as in the easy chair at home, but it does make it appear less fearful than it has been painted over here.

HUSTING'S PROPHECY

December third the report of the Commission of Internal Revenue was issued. This report shows we added seven thousand nine hundred twenty-five newly made millionaires in 1916. This is an increase of thirty-four per cent of all we had as a nation before. This is some jump to make in a single year.

There are almost enough in this new crop of millionaires to make two entire regiments of infantry in the army.

The late Senator Hustling whose memory we all love and revere told us in one of his late speeches in Congress that we should tax these war incomes to carry on the war instead of borrowing on our credit so extensively. It will be our aim to publish parts of his address in the columns of this paper. He said in part:

Of course we want to go on and have our corporations prosper and expand their business and increase their industry, but if we raise the money we need on bonds and little taxes, I do not think we can raise more taxes later nor sell as many bonds. I think just the contrary. I think if we bond ourselves down, or mortgage ourselves down, to thirty or forty billion dollars, we will have a hard time selling the bonds to those who have the money, because they will not think it is a very good investment.

It has been said here that we must have bonds. It is true that we must have bonds for every dollar that we do not raise by taxes; but the contrary is true, that every dollar that we do raise by taxes means a reduction of one dollar in bonds, and every billion dollars we raise by taxes means a billion dollars less in bonds. Not only does it mean that, but it means the interest on a billion dollars' worth of bonds. If we bond ourselves with $30,000,000,000 and have to raise the interest to 5 per cent, it means not only that we have got a bonded indebtedness of $30,000,000,000 but an annual interest bill of one billion and a half dollars; that is to say, one billion and a half a year, which is more than one Congress usually votes for the whole running expenses of the Government.

I think this is a truism. I do not see how there can be any question about the provision that the less bonds we sell now and the more money we raise by taxes the better our credit will be and the easier it will be to sell bonds when we have got to call upon our credit for the money necessary to conduct the war.

I do not think it is good financing to levy small taxes and issue immense bonds until and unless we have to. I do not claim to be an expert in financing. I am a mere layman on that proposition; but it seems to me as plain as day that we ought to raise as much by taxes as we can consistent with the prosperity of business and the prosperity of the people. We ought to go to the limit, and we ought to reserve our credit until such a time as the conditions may make it necessary for us to call upon that credit. We ought to conserve our credit now as much as possible for future use.

If a farmer, instead of making a collection or getting money some other way, mortgages his farm, when the crisis comes he has not got any credit left to take care of his financial situation.

I can not understand the logic of those who say we must not tax the people because we have got to have bonds. That means to say that we must not take the money for taxes in order that we may borrow it and put ourselves into debt. Those who make that argument seem to think that going into debt is a privilege and a blessing which we should seek and welcome. It is not good logic; it is not good financing. So I say, to start off, it seems to me that we ought to have as large a tax imposed as possible under the circumstances.

Manufacturers in Serious Threat

Now, no one claims that this is taxing anyone to the limit. No claim is made that the bill will do anything except that some say that it will discourage a man from continuing to manufacture. I listened with a great deal of interest and admiration, as I always do, to the distinguished Senator from Illinois (Mr. Lewis), but he said something this morning that I should dislike to believe. The Senator's argument was something to this effect, that the large manufacturing institutions in Chicago and in other portions of the United States if taxed too high would quit manufacturing and go out of business. Now, what does that mean? That is a pretty heavy indictment to make against the manufacturers of Chicago and the United States. It means that unless they get the price and unless they dictate the conditions under which they will do work, unless they can dictate the taxes of this country, they will not go along; that they will quit.

Now, let us apply that sort of logic to the drafted man. We could not impute such a thing to a man who was drafted. Here is a man drafted. He has got to go to war. Suppose he said, "Well, how much are you going to pay me for going to war?" "We are going to pay you $360 a year." "Well, then, I will not fight; I will quit. Unless you give me the amount of pay that I want, the same amount of pay that I always got, plus 200 per cent, I will not fight." We call that man a slacker. We disgrace him; we put him in jail. Now, is not his life just as precious as his money is to the manufacturer? Does not the man who has got to fight in the Army think as much of his life as these manufacturers do of their dollars? Is he not entitled to as much consideration as the manufacturer or the taxpayer? Let me put it in another way. The man who is drafted is not asked how much he will take to fight for his country. He is told that he will get $360 a year. He is drafted. So the manufacturer or business man must be told the conditions upon which we expect him to fight in the industrial or manufacturing world to back the country in this war.

OBSERVE HER BIRTHDAY

On the occasion of the sixty-eighth anniversary of her birth Mrs. George Porter was tendered a party Tuesday afternoon at which many relatives and friends were present. The gathering proved a very pleasant one and Mrs. Porter was presented with a number of remembrances, including some beautiful flowers. During the day she received numerous congratulations. Mrs. Porter has resided in Rhinelander since the early days and is one of his city's best beloved women. Her health has confined her to her home on the north side for nearly two years, but she retains her characteristic cheerfulness and continues to take the same motherly interest in the welfare of her friends.

Optimism.
To face the changing fortunes of life with equanimity, to brace ourselves against the shocks of fortune, to learn to smile at pretentiousness, to cultivate poise in the face of losses, to let no scarcity in the non-essentials touch our inner repose, to adjust our sense of value so that we need not miss what we do not need—these may be the fortunate by-products of our first lessons in the art of doing without.—Exchange.

Turks and Calcos Islands.
Turks and Calcos Islands form a dependency under the government of Jamaica, but geographically they are a portion of the Bahamas, of which they form the two southeastern groups. There are upwards of 30 small islands with an area of 185 square miles, but only eight are inhabited. The population is about 8,000, of whom only 300 are whites. The most important industry is the salt raking.

Roumania Founded in 1859.
Roumania was formed in 1859 by the union of Moldavia and Wallachia, two principalities tributary to the sultan of Turkey.

Amethyst's Colors.

A man recently brought back to a jewelry store three rings set with amethysts which had faded to a pale yellow within a few months after he had bought them. He then discovered that instead of amethysts the gems were topazes. The latter vary in color from pale yellow to deep violet and purple. Under high temperatures amethysts change color, becoming first yellow, then green, and finally entirely colorless. Under ordinary temperatures, however, genuine amethysts do not change color.

Children's Resistance.

Children's recuperative powers, generally speaking, are superior to those of older people. Proper rest and care will often ward off serious illness, but this requires care and insight on the part of the parents, as the children themselves are not apt to call attention to their condition until they become seriously ill.

From Gossiptown.

There's allus tongues wagging; nothing you can lay hold on, you know, but that's no help. I'd rather somebody say I'd a wooden leg straight out than go blating there was something funny about me figure.—J. E. Buckrose.

Shaving Cup Protector.

To insure the owner of a private shaving cup kept in a barber shop that he is its only user there has been invented a paper cap to cover it which cannot be removed without breaking a seal.

Time Markers in Lisbon.

Correct time is announced every even hour in the port of Lisbon by means of two lanterns placed on iron columns 100 feet high. The lanterns each have three faces measuring 6.5 feet by 3 feet.

Always Plenty Left.

"A good disposition," said Uncle Eben, "beats money. De more you hands hapless around, de more you has left for joshes."

Gained Fame While Dying.

Antoine Watteau, one of France's foremost artists, painted his celebrated decorative panels while dying of the white man's scourge. He sprang from humble and poverty-stricken surroundings, and was forced to work on the brink of starvation for the greater part of his thirty-seven years. Just as his fame rose to national proportions his tubercular condition became worse and he worked desperately during his last few years to complete as much work as possible before he died.

Does Not Affect Charity.

The desire of power in excess caused the angels to fall; the desire of knowledge in excess caused man to fall; but in charity there is no excess, neither can angel or man come in danger by it.—Bacon.

Muscle of the Soul.

We do not get perfect character in our sleep. It comes to us as muscle comes, through doing things. It is the muscle of the soul.—Henry Drummond.

New Pencil Holder.

For persons using pencils almost continuously a clip has been invented to hold one on the back of the left hand momentarily when the right hand is occupied for other work.

Tallow and Ink.

If ink is spilt on the tablecloth immediately melt a candle, taking some of the tallow, spread it over the ink patch and leave it to dry. Afterward wash the tablecloth and all traces of ink will disappear.

Question of Rights.

People generally understand that their rights end at the point where the other fellow's begin; but the trouble comes in determining the location of that point.—Exchange.

For Priests' Clothing.

The reason given by Josephus for the Jewish law which prohibited the wearing of clothing of linen and wool was that such garments were worn by the priests alone.

Lord Mayor's Banquet.

What a lord mayor's banquet was like up to the seventeenth century may be guessed from Delker's description of one in "The Shoemaker's Holiday," where the chief guest was Henry V. After being told that a hundred tables were filled and to be refilled with beef, pork, mutton, minced pies and marchpane, one reads that "venison pasties walk up and down piping hot, like sergeants; beef and brewwess comes marching in dry-vats; fritters and pancakes comes trowling in the wheelbarrows; hens and sausages hopping in porters' baskets, collops and eggs in scuttles, and tarts and custards comes quattering in in malt-bowls."

This zone is to be one-half mile radius in which all alien enemies are forbidden, unless given special permit by a United States Marshall. Other cities have established these zones and are enforcing the order of the president. It is said that Rhinelander will soon fall in line.

School Children's Eyes

School eyes, above all others, should be in good condition. See that your children's eyes don't smart, burn or cause headache, all of which are symptoms of eye strain. Let us examine them before they start to school. If glasses would be of no benefit, or if medical treatment be needed, we will tell you.

Many times a child is handicapped on account of defective sight. If glasses are needed only the proper ones are needed and they should be the best.

LONG BOY

"Long Boy" is the title of one of the late patriotic songs which can be heard on the Victrola at the Squier Store. The words were written by Billy Herchell of the Indianapolis Star and are as follows: He was just a long, lean country gink

From 'way out West, where the heptloads wink; He was six feet two in his stocking feet, An' 'kept gettin' thinner the more he'd eat. But he was as brave as he got. When the war broke out he got right in; Unhitched his plow, put the mule away, Then the old folks heard him say: CHORUS: Good-bye mule! Good-bye, paw! Good-bye, mule, with yer old hee-haw! I may not know what the war's about, But you bet, by gosh, I'll soon find out. An' O, my sweetheart, don't you fear, I'll bring you a king for a souvenir; I'll git you a Turk, an' a Kaiser, too, An' that's about all one feller could do. One pair of socks was his only load When he struck for town by the old dirt road. He went right down to the public square An' fell in line with the soldiers there. The sergeant put him in uniform, His gal knit mitts for to keep him warm; They drilled him hard, they drilled him long, Then he sang his farewell song: (Chorus.)

THE LONGING HEART

By ROSS WAVERLY.

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

The scene was a lawyer's office, the occupants of its consultation room, a man and a woman. He wore expensive, but neat attire. She was past the bloom of girlhood, but beauty and grace had not left her. Her attire was that of half mourning.

She had arisen and confronted the man who had just spoken words that affronted all the womanliness of her nature.

"You dare to make me this proposition!" she said with force and passion. "You, John Gaines, the gambler!"

"You know who I am, then?" he began, and, strong, great man that he was, he winced.

"Who does not who reads the public prints?" she challenged scornfully. "It is my personality, then, that makes the proposition obnoxious to you?" he interrogated, with a certain degree of dignity. "I do not forget that you are a lady. They call me 'Honest John Gaines,' gambler though I am. Mr. Leith, the attorney, is a person you trust. Believe me, he could not have consented to this interview did he not know that there is honor in my makeup."

She recalled her necessities, the struggle she was making to earn a living, to liquidate the debts left as her only heritage by an indifferent husband, dead but a year, and a certain harsh sternness, as of a man in turn resisting a galling contempt, held her silent. He went on: "I asked Mr. Leith to select a lady who would be treated as such, a true woman who could see in my peculiar situation something to pity. You are offered a thousand dollars to do the part of a play actress for a bare twelve hours. It is painful for me to act mine, but I wish to save breaking the heart of the only being I have ever loved—my mother."

"Your mother!" she murmured softly. Then sadly: "I lost mine, my best friend on earth only last month." And then apologetically, almost submissively: "I—I do not understand you."

"I hoped Mr. Leith had told you," he spoke. "I am John Gaines, gambler, to the city, but I am John Willard, a beloved son, a mother's idol and a rich, influential and reputable business man to my old mother. I have kept my father and mother in comfort, a thousand miles away. For the first time in their lives that doting innocent old couple, on their way home from the funeral of a relative, will stop over for one day in the city here to see their boy. I have prepared for them. They will be welcomed to the home I have rented for the day, where well-bribed servants will assist in carrying out the fraud. They will go away proud and content."

"I understand and I pity you," spoke Norma Winston, and her eyes were moist. "For one day I am to act out the mistress of your regal home, I am to wear the mask of the wife. For your mother's sake I consent."

"Thank you," said Gaines simply, almost coldly. "Mr. Leith will arrange the details with you," and was gone.

It was a strange experience for Norma Winston, and its details grew more complex and interesting as the farce continued. She was given money by the lawyer, Mr. Leith, to procure attire in keeping with that appropriate for the wife of a wealthy man. Through the attorney Gaines sent her some diamonds to wear. At nine o'clock on the day set an automobile conveyed her to the elegant residence.

One hour later the expected guests were brought to the house by their devoted son. After an introduction, the mother reached out and drew Norma to a warm embrace.

"Oh, you dear, sweet creature! So beautiful, and well may John, good man that he is, be proud of you!"

Then followed hours replete with charm and royal entertainment for the old homespun couple.

It was just an hour before the pair were to resume their journey, and Gaines, satisfied and relieved, for the deception had materialized smoothly, was passing the door ajar of the library when he chanced to glance within the apartment.

At the feet of his mother Norma was seated on a stool, her head resting on the breast of the dear old lady, who was planning out a haven of bliss, where John and his wife were to come and pass a month or two at the old homestead.

Norma was in tears when the parting came. After they had seen the old couple safely started on their journey, Gaines ordered his chauffeur to drive Mrs. Winston to her home. He handed her an envelope as they reached it. It contained the fee promised by the lawyer.

"You have done me a service I never can forget," he said. "May I see you once in a while?"

"When you come with clean hands—yes," she said.

He came a month later. "I have sold all I owned, without restriction," he told her. "I have abandoned my old calling; I have given all I had to charity. Could the rich young man of olden times do more?"

She tendered him her hand.

"Mother has written me, and I had to come to you," went on Gaines steadily, but his soul was in his face. "She is longing for you. She wants to see her boy and Norma, dear Norma."

"Oh," she cried longingly, "take me to mother!"

A Vise From a Sapling.
To make a vise in the woods, cut a good-sized hardwood sapling, leaving a square-topped stump of convenient height. Split the stump through the middle as far as necessary. Trim the upper part, if needed for the purpose. Then, about 18 inches from the top, lash the stump firmly with a rope and twist it tight with a stick, like a tourniquet. Open the split with wedges. Insert the article to be held, knock out the wedges, and—there you are.—All Outdoors.

Greatest Thing in the World.
Love has been called the greatest thing in the world, but the greatest thing in the world is not a thing at all; the greatest thing is a person. Personality is the greatest thing in the world. The greatest thing in personality is not strength of body nor strength of mind. It is strength of heart. "Clever people are as common as blackberries, the rare things to find a good one." It is not Daniel Webster's brain, but Lincoln's heart, that wins a nation's love.—Exchange.

DEATH COMES TO LITTLE NEWSBOY

Little Harry Peterson, who for several years sold newspapers and blacked shoes in this city, is no more. After a long illness with diabetes death relieved his sufferings Friday afternoon.

Harry was fourteen years of age and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peterson. He was a bright, pleasant little fellow and a friend of everyone. He was a hustler and many nickels came his way. There are many who will miss his cheery greeting.

The remains were taken to Breed, Oconto county, for burial. A brief funeral service was held at the residence Sunday afternoon at which Rev. W. Wilson officiated.

"LIBERTY" THEATERS READY

The Government "Liberty" theaters at the 16 National Army cantonments are all completed, and a few performances have been given. The buildings, which are supervised by the War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities are 129 feet wide and 179 feet long, made of pine boards, unpainted, but faced with heavy building paper, which makes the sides air-tight. Complete ventilating systems have been installed and heat is supplied by steam and small stoves. There are five large entrances and 15 exits, and the heater, seating 3000 men, may be emptied in about one minute. The theater is placed on highest point of ground in each camp, and in many camps the post office, library building, hostess houses are nearby, making a sort of town center where large numbers of men gather each night. The tower on top of the stage loft, about 75 feet from the ground, serves as a signal tower for wig-wagging.

HOTELS SAVING MEAT AND SUGAR

Hotels in Wisconsin saved during the months of October and November 286,300 pounds of meat, 125,200 pounds of wheat, 96,100 pounds of sugar, as a result of their observance of meatless and wheatless days.

These figures are totaled from the replies to questionnaires sent out by the State Council of Defense inquiring of hotel keepers what their saving had been in the three food products which the government is making especial efforts to conserve. Of the 700 hotels in the state 149 have up to the present time sent in their replies. Of this number 60 were unable to give definite figures just how much saving had been effected by the conservation measures, but they were unanimous in reporting that a great saving had been accomplished.

Eighty-seven hotels reporting on meat saving showed an average economy per month of 409 pounds. The average monthly saving in wheat was 176 pounds, and in sugar 133 pounds. These averages multiplied by the total number of hotels in the state give the figures quoted above.

On the basis of a monthly saving the results show 143,150 pounds of meat, 61,600 pounds of wheat, and 46,550 pounds of sugar.

A Useful Screen.

A useful contrivance for holding newspapers, books or sewing is made by sewing pockets of a suitable size to a plain two or three section screen about three feet high—procureable at any furniture or department store for a mere nothing. When not in use this screen can be folded together and stowed away in a very small space; but, if prettily covered in chintz, it can be appropriately used in almost any room of the house.

Gnats of Many Varieties.

The gnat is only one of the many species of mosquito known to dipterists. Altogether there are no fewer than 35 as described as natives of Europe, while as many as 100 different varieties are scattered over the rest of the world. Of this large number some are known by the Spanish name of mosquito—that is, "little fly"—while others are content with the title of "gnat"; but from a scientific point of view there is no difference between the insect known under these different popular names.

DAIRY

QUIETNESS OF GREAT VALUE

Something That Should Be Insisted Upon and Rigidly Enforced Among the Dairy Herds.

The value of quietness among the dairy herds is something that should be insisted upon and rigidly enforced. The intruding hunter is fast being kept out by signs to that effect; but even then one or two sometimes get in when no one is looking. A cow usually hates a dog, and her hate is even increased when the dog is noisy or runs at her. She may not get over the agitation for a day or two, and in the meantime the disturbance shows its effect in the milk supply. If the manager of a herd has nothing to offer in the way of kindness or love to his animals he can do infinite harm. He may apparently lose control of himself at times and feel justified in delivering severe beatings; but such actions are not good as an excuse. Forbid any kicks in the bellies or any striking over the rumps or backs with clubs. Cases are on record of serious harm being done to cattle by those who do not take some forethought on how to manage with reason.

Contented Members of Herd.

CALVES ON SEPARATOR MILK

Poor Practice to Pour Liquid Into Dirty Trough and Let Animals Drink Their Fill.

If we are ready to admit that a cow's milk is too good for a cow's calf and that it is economically profitable to rob the future cow for the sake of present gains, then it is quite necessary to know how to raise calves on separator milk or other artificial and unnatural foods, says a writer.

The usual practice is to pour separator milk, sometimes cold, into a large trough which is never cleaned, and allow the calves to drink until they are satisfied. This method means potbellied, runty calves, that never make the growth they should, even though they fortunately escape the ravages of indigestion.

Book Proves a Life-Saver.

Mark Twain's "The Innocents Abroad" once saved a life—according to the word of a grateful husband which Twain relates in one of his letters appearing in Harper's Magazine. He said "his wife owed her life to me; hurt in the Chicago fire, and lay menaced with death a long time, but 'The Innocents Abroad' kept her mind in a cheerful attitude, and so, with the doctor's help for the body, she pulled through." In the same letter Twain says that Col. Fred Grant and General Sherman told him they used "The Innocents Abroad" as their guide-book when they were on their travels.

SOLDIERS WELCOME HOME KNT SOCKS

Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas.

Fifty reserve officers have been transferred from MacArthur to Camp Dodge. Unattached officers are getting very scarce here since it is the determination to get them to commands that they will lead as well as train at the earliest possible time.

"If I could say one thing to the papers it would be to encourage the women in their knitting," said Lieut. William Atkinson, chaplain of the 119th Field Artillery. "I know hundreds of men here at MacArthur that are almost as proud of a pair of home-knitted socks that has come to them in some way as they are of their guns. They tell me that just such socks help their feet more than anything else on these long hikes. I know they are right. I never wore wool socks in my life till these men kept telling me about them. I bought me some, for like the officers the chaplain has a yell coming. You people think of the private soldier all the time when you are passing around the good things, but never a thought of the poor chaplain. I know officers and men right now that have sacrificed everything to be in this army and whose every penny goes to keep the wolf from the door at home. No socks for them; they are supposed to be aristocrats. But, Oh, son, you don't know how human they are.

"Therefore, tell the good women to keep on knitting. Tell them to knit socks, socks without dropped stitches, socks that are big, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, see that there are no bumps in them. And some poor soldier who long ago almost cursed Creation because it wasn't ordained that new feet should grow on human beings like hair or nails, will raise his arms and call you blessed."

DO IT NOW

If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing, If you like him or you love him, tell him now; Don't withhold your appreciation till the parson makes oration And he lies with snowy lilies o'er his brow.

For, no matter how you shout it, he won't really care about it; He won't know how many tears-crops you have shed, If you think some praise is due him Now's the time to slip it to him, For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

More than fame and more than money is the comment kind and sunny,

And the hearty, warm approval of a friend, For it gives to life a savor, and it makes you stronger, braver, And it gives you heart and spirit to the end.

If he earns your praise—bestow it; if you like him, let him know it;

Let the words of true encouragement be said, Do not wait till life is over and he's underneath the clover For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

Why We Say "Carat"
 The weight used by goldsmiths in gauging the quality of gold apart from the alloy, i. e., carat, is derived from that of the seed of an Abyssinian carat flower, which, being exceedingly uniform in size, were employed in weighing gold and precious stones.

INGREDIENTS OF DRY RATION

Should Not Be Different From Those Fed to Cow at Other Times—Give Some Roughage.

The ingredients of the ration for the dry cow should not be so very different from that fed at other times. In order to cut down on the fat-producing elements, hominy is frequently used in place of corn. Bran and oats are both rich in mineral matter which goes to give bone to the unborn calf.

Traveling Feed Box in Use.

If she has been fed with high protein feeds a change of ration will rest and cool the digestive system.

As calving time draws near, a laxative feed, such as oilmeal in small quantities, loosens the bowels and lessens the danger of caked udder or milk fever at time of calving. Along with these concentrates eight to ten pounds of clean hay or corn stover will give sufficient roughage to keep the grain from massing in the stomach, and make digestion easy.

SEPARATING CALF FROM COW

Allow Young Animal to Remain With Dam for Day or So That It May Receive the First Milk.

It is well to allow the calf to remain with the dam for a day or two in order that it may receive the colostrum, or first milk. Colostrum milk has a purgative effect which aids in clearing out the calf's digestive system. If the mother's milk is very rich, it may be necessary to feed milk with a lower percentage of butterfat.

It is somewhat easier to teach young calves to drink than it is to teach older ones, but in either case it is necessary for the calf to become hungry by the omission of one or more feeds before it will drink milk from a pail.

One method of teaching the calf to drink is to get it to suck the attendant's finger as its mouth comes in contact with the milk in the pail. The finger can be withdrawn gradually, and the calf will usually continue to take in the milk. Patience, rather than force, is a prerequisite on the part of the feeder.

SPRAY MIXTURES FOR COWS

Ohio Experiment Station Recommends Fish Oil, Oil of Tar and Crude Carbolic Acid.

Spray mixtures may add to the comfort of a cow by keeping off numerous flies. Several of these compounds may be mixed at home.

A mixture recommended for this purpose is given in Bulletin 267 of the Ohio experiment station as 100 parts of fish oil, 50 parts of oil of tar, and one part of crude carbolic acid. Another formula is one-half gallon of oil of tar, one-half gallon of cottonseed oil, and one-half pint of crude carbolic acid. Such mixtures sprayed on cattle keep off flies for a time.

COWS NOT MILKED PROPERLY

Not Much Gained by Feeding Unless Farmer Gets All the Milk and Butterfat Feed Makes.

There is not much to be gained by feeding a cow unless you are determined to get all the milk and butterfat the feed makes. You cannot get all the milk and butterfat the feed makes unless you milk the cow right. A large percentage of cows are not milked right, so a large loss of milk and a larger loss of butterfat result. It is as important that cows be well milked as it is that they be well fed.

BUILDING UP A DAIRY HERD

Use of Purebred Bull Is Cheapest Way—Too Much Stress Cannot Be Laid to Ancestry.

The use of a purebred bull is the cheapest way of building up a herd. In selecting a bull too much stress cannot be laid to his ancestry. The greater the number of good producers in his pedigree, the better the chances for stamping desirable dairy characteristics upon his offspring.

DAIRY FACTS

FEEDING THE DAIRY CALVES

First Aim Is to Cut Down Whole-Milk Period—Results of Tests at North Dakota Station.

In feeding the dairy calf, the aim is to cut down the period of whole-milk feeding. At the North Dakota experiment station, two lots of four calves each were fed as follows: Whole milk first three weeks, both lots. From then on lot A was fed one-half whole milk and one-half skim milk till six months old. Lot B, after three weeks old, fed skim milk with flaxseed; just enough flax was added to supply as much fat as was given the calves in lot A in their whole milk. Each calf was given two gallons of milk a day.

The whole-milk calves made the best gains the first three months, but during the next three months the skim-milk calves nearly caught up, the four lacking but 15 pounds of weighing as much as the whole-milk calves. Several expert cattlemen who examined the two lots pronounced the calves in lot B in as thrifty a condition as those in lot A. The saving in using skim milk and flax in place of the whole milk amounted to $19 per calf for the six-month period. The grain and hay cost the same for both lots.

DRYING UP A COW DIFFICULT

Milking Habit in Some Is So Strongly Developed They Give Milk Up to Calving Time.

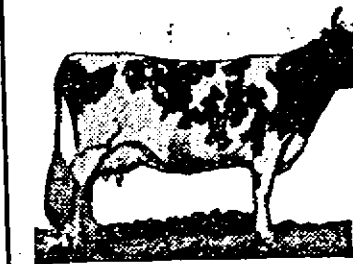

(By W. S. CUNNINGHAM, Assistant Animal Husbandman, University of Arizona Experiment Station.)

Many times certain cows are very difficult to dry up. The milking habit is so strongly developed that they tend to give a large quantity of milk right up to calving time. The proper way to dry up most cows is to cut off all grain in the ration and milk only once a day for a few days. Then lengthen the periods between milkings by milking only once in two or three days until the secretion of milk is nearly stopped. In very persistent cases the feed supply may have to be cut down more severely. However, there is little danger of injuring the udder if reasonable attention is given.

GUERNSEY IS HIGH PRODUCER

In General Appearance Breed Has Plain Attractiveness That Appeals to Dairyman.

The Guernsey shows various colors, so red, light lemon, orange and yellow fawn may be expected, sometimes solid, but more often with white markings. The white color markings are found on the face, flanks, legs and sometimes on the body. In general appearance the Guernsey has a plain attractiveness and an even balance that makes a strong appeal to the dairyman. Larger than the Jersey, but not as large as the Holstein, the Guernsey of Gentle Disposition.

Guernsey shows the capacity for work so desirable in the dairy cow. Years, and even centuries, of tethering in the fields of Guernsey Islands have given the Guernsey cow a gentle disposition, and in the respect she stands on a par with the Jersey.

PLENTIFUL SUPPLY OF WATER

One of Most Important Problems That Confronts Up-to-Date Farmer—Factor for Health.

The plentiful supply of good, wholesome fresh water in the home, the stable and the feed lot is one of the most important problems that confront the up-to-date farmer. Its successful solution will be a factor in keeping him and his family in good health and "at home" on the farm.

TO HURRY BUTTER GRANULES

If They Do Not Form After Churning Reasonable Time, Small Amount of Salt Will Help.

When the butter granules do not form after churning a reasonable time, try putting a small amount of table salt in the churn. A little warm water has the same effect of hastening the granules. Too much warm water makes soft butter.

TREATING CALF FOR SCOURS

Reduce Ration One-Half, and If no Improvement Give Dose of Sublimated, Salol and Soda.

First, reduce ration one-half. If calf does not improve within 12 hours treat as follows: Mix one ounce of bismuth subnitrate, one-half ounce of salol and three ounces of bicarbonate of soda and give one teaspoonful three or four times a day until recovered.

An Awkward Idiot.
 "I didn't mind him asking my age," said the lady; "what really annoyed my anger was his introducing the subject by saying he hoped a reference to my age would not be distasteful to me."

War Who Savings Stamps Saves Serves

The Bald Eagle.
Our national bird, the bald eagle, wild in its native haunts, is so large, so majestic, and flies with an evidence of so enormous strength, that one is impressed with the thought that here is the king of birds. On one occasion while eating my lunch in the shade of a little bush on a Southern prairie, I saw one carry off a lamb, writes T. Gilbert Pearson of the Audubon society.

Firemen's Light.
A new light greatly aids firemen in rescue work. This light, strapped to his back, and elevated slightly above his head, is powerful enough to pierce the densest smoke. With one charge of calcium carbide, the light—3,000 candlepower—will burn for over four hours.

Boxwood is Expensive.
The most expensive wood in the world is said to be the boxwood, imported from Turkey for the use of engravers. The cost ranges from 4 cents a square inch up to 10 cents a square inch for the best grade. An ordinary wagonload of boxwood would cost many thousands of dollars.

Find Out First.
Study to conserve your steps. When you spend an hour looking for something because you do not know where it is, you have wasted that many steps.

The Weak Point.
A failure establishes only this, that our determination to succeed was not strong enough.—Bovee.

Lying Down to Smoke.
The Patagonians lie down while smoking, swallowing and retaining some of the smoke, while the Eskimos mix wood with the tobacco to make it last longer. A reason for this is that they must depend upon whalers for their supply of tobacco. In Abyssinia smoking is considered a heinous crime, entailing cruel penalties.

Gardening Indoors.
A small funnel inserted in a fern ball facilitates a continuous supply of water and does away with the necessity of taking the ball down for submersion. It is easy to find out how much water will be absorbed without dripping, and there is never a lack of the necessary water to make the ball come to a fine mature growth.

OLD RESIDENT IS FATALLY INJURED

Anthony Rosemark Is Crushed Under Log At Collins' Mill

Anthony Rosemark, one of Rhinelander's old and well known residents, passed away Saturday noon in St. Mary's hospital from injuries sustained early that forenoon while engaged at his duties with the C. C. Collins Lumber company. Mr. Rosemark was foreman of the landing crew. He was struck by a log, which rolled from a car, knocking him into the pond. When taken from the water a few minutes later he was found to be badly injured about the chest. He was hurried to the hospital where it was soon ascertained that he was beyond aid. The end came within a few hours.

Deceased was born in Germany forty-eight years ago. When a child he came with his parents to the United States, the family locating in Ohio. For nearly thirty years he was a resident of Rhinelander. He was a good citizen, a loyal friend and a devoted husband and father. He will be greatly missed in the community.

Those who are left to mourn Mr. Rosemark's sad death are his wife and eight children, namely Susan, Helen, Frank, Anthony, Thomas, Lucille, George and Florence. His father, George Rosemark of this city, and four sisters also survive. They are Mrs. F. E. Parker and Mrs. Wm. Rowe of this city, Mrs. Hugh Donohue of Minneapolis and Mrs. Jack Parsons of Cleveland, Ohio.

The funeral was held from St. Mary's church Wednesday morning and the services, which were conducted by Rev. Father Didier, were largely attended. The remains were laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mr. Rosemark was a member of Lake Camp 1749 M. W. A. of this city. He followed mill work for many years and was a faithful employee. The sorrowing wife, children, father and sisters have the sympathy of all in their hour of tribulation.

ALIEN ENEMIES REGISTER FEB. 4

On February 4 all alien enemies in the United States will be required to register with the proper authorities in the communities where they reside. The government has requested Mayor Grant V. Clark to enlist the services of the police department in aiding the registration in Rhinelander. Chief Straub is compiling a list of alien enemies here and will see that all such register on the above date.

According to the letter received by Mayor Clark from Attorney General Gregory the plan contemplated is to have the German alien enemies fill out the registration affidavits at the police station, and receive registration cards. The Department will furnish all necessary affidavits cards and other forms and issue instructions for the work.

Poetry Comes High.

It is the height of luxury for a Japanese to be able to say that he is reading the words of a philosopher in the original manuscript; and he is willing to pay enormously for that satisfaction. Ancient scripts have risen remarkably in price during the last two years. It is nothing unusual these days for a wealthy collector to pay $30,000 for a little scrap of classic poetry.

Husking Indian Corn.
The husking of Indian corn is a man-power proposition. Husking and cribbing of this great staple cereal must be done by hand. Machinery has never satisfactorily grappled with the task. Formerly a farmer, single-handed, would husk 50 bushels of corn in a day, but greater skill has raised the possible output per person to between 90 and 100 bushels. That men and boys, women and girls, may become more proficient in the work, husking schools have now been established throughout the corn belt. These schools are for business, and must not be confounded with husking bees, which are mostly for fun.—Christian Science Monitor.

Would Rather Walk.
When Nellie's father came in on his horse he got off, picked her up, and put her on the horse's back while he shut the gate. No sooner had he turned his back than he heard the sound of horse's hoofs and knew that the horse had begun to run for the stable. He looked around quickly, expecting to find her badly hurt, but instead she had slipped off and stood placidly smiling. "I fought I preferred to walk," she replied.

The Leap of the Black Bass.
The leap of the black bass is always directly upward when hooked, and he generally falls tail first into the water. At times, however, this fish, like the trout, will rise vigorously to the fly and, missing it, will make a graceful curve in the air ere he goes quietly head down back to his element. But as a rule the bass rises fiercely to the fly with an accurate aim, and goes lustily to his lair.—All Outdoors.

That's About All.
Pandora was an extraordinary creature. Every young woman is. She will still, however, a young woman—that is to say, a mixture of timidity and boldness, of prudery and shamelessness, of divine kindness and cold cruelty of youthfulness, and especially of profound knowledge and abysmal ignorance.—Exchange.

The Sandwich Man.
The name "sandwich man," as applied to the men who parade the streets between two boards, on which are advertisements, was first given to them by Dickens. Although it would appear that the custom originated in the nineteenth century, the profession was without a name until Dickens conceived the humorous title, which he first employed in his "Sketches by Boz."

Living Water Tank.
Perhaps the most notable specimen of self-watering plants is the so-called "water barrel" which, of about the size and shape of an ordinary beer keg, is in fact nothing more or less than a living water tank. Its whole interior is composed of storage cells so admirably arranged that the pulp which they form contains something like 90 per cent pure water.

Nature's Way.
The processes of nature are most interesting, even without being fully understood. The why and the wherefore are complex and worthy of deepest study, observes a naturalist, but the bold facts, uncoupled with reasons of any kind, are delightful to contemplate. This interest will grow upon you and the next thing you know, unless you are indeed shallow-pated, you will be keen to make more observations, with a new and charming part of this grand old world, or a small piece thereof, being opened before you. Try it and see.

Agreed With Mother.
Gerald's mother had tried to make him understand what conscience is and had told him not to cross the street on his wheel. One day she said, "Gerald, when you crossed the street today, didn't a wee small voice tell you that it was wrong?" "Yes, ma," he replied. "I guess it did, but my velocipede tweeked so much I couldn't hear it."

Important Point.
Concentration is a great distinguishing faculty.—Greenville Kleiser.
